

Jessica Panetta

Jessica has experienced painful periods since the age of thirteen, and was formally diagnosed with Endometriosis via laparoscopy in 2005, and then received a further diagnosis of Diaphragmatic/Thoracic Endometriosis in 2012 (after having experienced symptoms since 2004).

Since being diagnosed Jessica has undergone multiple surgeries, and has worked to help other women also battling this disease.

Jessica is an administrator for two Facebook support groups for Endometriosis sufferers. One of which is for Australian & New Zealand women, whilst the other is available worldwide for women with Thoracic Endometriosis. And is also the creator of a group for women in Melbourne who suffer from Endometriosis.

On her experiences with Endometriosis, Jessica has said "since being diagnosed with Endometriosis I have made it my mission to help other Endometriosis sufferers. My proudest and biggest achievement is my local support group for women in Melbourne. I promised myself that if I could do something to help an Endo sister, I would do everything in my power to make sure that no other woman would suffer the way I have."

Jessica has shared her full story on her battle with Diaphragmatic Endometriosis via our blog, which can be found on the blog page of our website.
